Hi! My name is Alvin Huang and I am a McDonough peer ambassador.

Hometown: Saratoga, California

Class: 2018

Majors: Most likely Finance, OPIM

Extracurricular Activities: McDonough School of Business Tech Center, WGTB Georgetown Radio, Georgetown Sports Business and Analytics Research.

Interesting Fact about Me: I broke my leg at McDonald’s when I was 4 years old.

What made you choose Georgetown’s McDonough School of Business?
Georgetown is a top school that also has an undergraduate business school. Two of my cousins also graduated from the McDonough School of Business, so I guess it runs in the family.

What are the best things about being a Hoya?
I love going to basketball games at the Verizon Center and cheering on the Hoyas, but being a Hoya also means you are in the ranks of hundreds and thousands of similarly ambitious and exceptional people that create change in our world.

Why do you love D.C.?
D.C. is a great place. Living in Georgetown means we don’t have to deal with the hustle and bustle of city life but can still experience all the great perks of living in a metropolis. There are so many museums and restaurants that are just waiting to be found!

Share a defining and/or transformative classroom/educational moment?
Sitting down with one of my liberal arts professors to talk about a paper turned into a discussion about career goals and outlooks on life. Conversations at Georgetown can include the funny everyday things as well as deep and more philosophical topics.

What is your advice to incoming Hoyas?
Get to know older students. Their advice (for both life/career) and input is so crucial and helpful.
